The thrust of the institution is based on the call given by Swami Vivekananda, education is the manifestation of perfection already in man. True to this clarion call by the PatriotSaint of India, the institution aims at the overall development of the students. One can see that the secular education is coupled with development of inner virtues that strengthen the student in faith in himself, clarity of thought, oneness of humanity along with nationalistic fervor. The result is that our students are preferred on both personal merit and academic achievements. The added advantage of this thrust is that the students are taught to respect the other individual equally irrespective of religion or other considerations. The participatory management principle ensures decentralisation and proper weightage given for rights coupled with responsibility.
